Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

The Old Timer clings tenaciously to certain principles and never gets tired of making his confession of faith as pertaining to them. The three departments created by the founders of this government and, as he thought, permanently embedded in the Constitution. the Old Timer regards as holy. Any attempt on the part of two of the trio to gang up on a third, he resents with a good old fashioned indignation that shames the indifference of the younger generation that is so optimistic that it doesn't bother its downy head about principles of government of much of anything else.

"I think it is the crooners that have spoiled the young folks of today " declared the Old Timer, settling himself for a protracted stay in the guest chair. "They get to listening to crooners, and when the President comes along and tries to talk to them seriously over the NBC network they listen for awhile to that mellifious voice, and decide he is just a super-crooner, that he is right and the worm's on the thorn and all well with the world. When I try to tell the youngsters that they are caught in the NBC network line like so many poor suckers, they just yawn politely, or, put up an argument.

"The argument usually is that this country that my grand, great grand, and great great grand, and great-great, great grandfather helped to build, is on the rocks and it needs a firm, strong hand at the tiller, to get it off. Some of these kids, in a way, have a lot of character and good principles of their own. They wouldn't lie, and they scorn the bums and slackers. They deliver an honest day's work. They have learned as much as anybody in the depression and some of them even save their money. But when it comes to thinking a thing through, somehow, the universities do not teach them that. Mental laziness, I call it.

"I try to make them listen to me. There are, I say, no two standards of life. Your government should reflect throughout all its activities, the same principles that guide the private lives of upright, honest citizens. Until every thinking man and woman holds up that standard, and applies that yard stick to measure the deeds of our public servants we shall have graft and skullduggery in government. The test is as simple as adding 2 and 2, and the sum is never 4¼. A fraction less or a fraction more means just one thing, dishonesty in public office.

"I try to tell these young fellows just out of college of the good old days when farmers in the course of buying or selling did a lot of trading, cattle, horses, bushels of potatoes or bales of hay for this or that animal or commodity they wanted. and this or that thing the other fellow wanted. Well, in those days the rascals were mighty soon sifted out, and once they were sifted they might as well leave the neighborhood because no honest man would have any dealing with a horse trader, for instance, who had a horse lame in one leg, and crippled the other three legs so that the horse was not able to favor one leg as against the others. He could make just one trade like that and then he was though. He had to leave and start over again somewhere else.

"That is the way it ought to be, and ain't, with our governments. I have no special objection to Democratic government, if it is honest, though I do believe that by and large, we have prospered more and longer under the Republicans. But when the President finds the Supreme Court lame in one leg, as it undoubtedly was, and then deliberately undertakes to cripple the other three legs, in order to trade that grand old horse off the Amercan people for a government of, by and for Mr. Roosevelt, by all the rules of private lives and priciples, he ought to be through. And I am not so sure he ain't.

"The reason I think his sun is now about down to 3 o'clock in the afternoon, is the worrying he is doing. He ain't worrying about the Republicans. He may later, but right now its the conservative Democrats in Congress and elsewhere, and John L. Lewis and his communist partners, who are worrying the President. When I was a kid in school I studied Greek myths. One of them was about a box that Jupiter presented to Pandora. When that box was opened countless ills and diseases flew out to afflict mankind. When power over his fellow men is conferred on one man, it is Pandora's box. The man that gets it as a gift, invariably opens it. Stalin has his Trotskyists and traitors, and his firing squads. Hitler has his Protestant, Catholic and Jewish folk who refuse to goosestep, and his blood purges, Mussolini has his political antagonists, and his isles in the Mediterranean where he keeps them safe, when they are not murdered. The President has his sit down strikers and thirteen men killed in industrial warfare to date. And, mark this, he has only just peeked inside the box."

WPA STARTS ON NEW SIDEWALKS

A WPA crew started sidewalk paving in Nevada City Tuesday morning tearing out 65 feet in front of Dr. W. W. Reed's office and business building and 50 feet of the adjoining Broad street theatre pavement on upper Broad street. The new sidewalks are eight feet wide. Eighteen men are employed nine to a shift with a foreman. Street Superintendent Herbert Hallett and six city employes ore assisting in the work also.

The WPA supplies, labor and a certain amount of material and a charge of approximately 10 cents per square foot is made to the owner of the properties. William Mitchell, in charge of WPA work, stated this is one third of what a contractor would charge and anyone wishing to get their work done should apply at once.

Fifty WPA men, 25 to a shift are digging two reservoirs and a pipe line for the Nevada Irrigation District on Banner Ridge south of Nevada City. About two miles of pipe line has been built with about 500 feet more to be laid in the next few days to complete the job. One reservoir will bring water down to the big D. S. canal at Town Talk and the district will do away with a canal that blocks with snow and ice each winter. These men have been employed over two months.

CLEANING BUSINESS TO GET STATE LICENSE

James Vassion, cleaner on Commercial street, who has been operating without a state license was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Garfield Robson on a complaint filed by Assistant State Fire Marshal W. L. Hicks. Vassion was told when he opened up for business, to secure a state license by the chief of police and at that time secured a city license. The chief of police saw ten gallons of naptha delivered to Vassion's home on Sacramento street a few days ago which is against state and city law, only one gallon can be kept in a house at one time.

When officers went to the home yesterday morning there was also an open can with about seven gallons of gasoline two or three feet from a burning gas jet and the wife was cleaning clothes nearby. Vassion procured a temporary state license when brought into city court yesterday and, stated he will take out a regular state license and take an examination for registered cleaner. The officers expect, if he complies with the law to dismiss the complaint.

STANDARD OIL ASKS SHARE IN SALES TO CITY

L. L. Larabie, Standard Oil representative in Nevada County, last evening appeared before the city council and complained that the council was not giving the various gas and oil companies an even break in purchasing supplies for the city. He offered figures to show that the Shell company in 1936 sold the city $925.06 worth of gas and lubricant, the Texas company $354, General Petroleum $407, while Standard Oil, which he declared pays over $400 in taxes got only $26.46 worth of business during the entire year. This he declared was more taxes than any other oil company in Nevada City paid to the city.

Larabie also stated that if the city would install a storage tank and pump, at a cost of about $138, it could save $240 annually in buying oil and gas. He stated that the city was entitled to buy its gas, and the Standard Oil would supply it at 16½ cents per gallon as against the 20½ cents that the city now pays.

Mayor Hall stated that that was a saving that would be well worth looking into.

The proprietor of a new meat market in town complained of the $25 per month license tax that he is obliged to pay. It was stated that the reason this ordinance was passed a good many years ago was at the requestion of the butchers who desired at that time to keep out uninspected meat sold by farmers who peddled it in town.

A quit claim deed was signed by the councilmen to a lot belonging to Richard, Irvin and Norman Gilbert. The property is located on Spring street adjacent to the bond property.

Scratch a Russian

Transatlantic press wires tell us that the Soviet Union is formulating a third Five Year Plan. The first decade of planned industrialization, it seems, fell somewhat short of Marxian expectations. But Russia's industrial leaders now proclaim that the new Five Year Plan will surely "overtake and surpass America."

That is quite a large order, as attested by Soviet scouts who visit the United States and return home with the report that American labor efficiency is two or three times higher than the Soviet Union's. The latest leaf they have borrowed from our big business book is the one captioned "The Value of Advertising."

Dealing in virtual monopolies, the Soviet state first used its new commercial weapon to introduce food products. Canned corn, "plugged" in the initial campaign, was practically unknown to the Russian dinner table. Now it has become a popular menu item.

The full value of advertising is just beginning to dawn on its Russian proponents. They are just learning that the technique can be used to prevent surplus and loss, especially in such commodities as perishable foodstuffs, an application of advertising's power which 37,000 American food stores have practiced for several years at great producer and consumer profit.

Traffic in such ideas as this properly belongs on the international free-trade list. And Russia has succeeded Japan as the most consistent borrower of American business and industrial methods—cast in a role which causes frequent embasrassment to American admirers of Communism.

Scratch a genuine Russian these days, and you may find a Capitalist in the making!—Contributed.

Fred Hafelfinger, miner, arrested last Saturday night by Night Officer James Allen of Nevada City, on a reckless driving charge was fined $100 or 50 days in jail. Hafelfinger paid half of the fine and was granted two months to pay the balance.

The California State Employees' Association has scheduled their annual picnic to be held at Lake Olympia for July 17. The picnic will draw a large crowd as it is always the highlight of the social events of the highway workers.

New Circus Coming Here Soon on First Tour of West

"Come and watch the weird dance
Of the mighty elephants;
Watch the monkeys; come and see
Topsy Ann, the chimpanzee;
Lions, leopards, ponies, bears,
White-faced clowns to chase your cares;
Pretty girls in spangled tights
Smiling down from dizzy heights.
The old feel young on circus day
And kids of every age are gay."

Today's the day to start saving up your pennies, children, and Wednesday, July 21, is the day you'll be glad you did save them.

That is the date set for the appearance of Russell Bros. Circus at Cashin Field, according to information left by the show's advance agent.

Russell Bros. is a brand new circus in this locality, the current season being the first time it has ever toured the Western states. It is, however, highly popular in the East, Middle West and South, and comes recommended as one of the nation's foremost "big top" organizations.

A performance of exceptionally high merit at prices that are most reasonable is promised. A few of the human and near-human entertainers are Fisher's Five Fearless Flyers; the Six Lelands, European acrobats; the Rebras' perch and loop sensation from France; Buddy, the "talking" sea lion; Miss Aerialetta, dainty darling of the high trapeze; Frank B. Miller's remarkable array of highly gaited horses, and Irene Ledgett's elephants. The program is well spiced with outstanding novelty acts and the absurd antics of the clown department. And, of course, there is a complete menagerie for which no extra charge is made.

Remember the date, kiddies, and drop a penny in the bank today to start for that grand annual event—Circus Day!

Cashin Field is being used by this circus because no location within the bounds of either Nevada City or Grass Valley is large enough to accomodate a show of this size.

FAIR TO FEATURE INDUSTRIES OF CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, July 8.—California's leading industries are to be featured in a 10-day pageant at the California State Fair in Sacramento September 3 to 12.

Each day of the fair will be devoted to either an industry or activity including agriculture, press, churches, fruit, radio, motion picture, manufacturing, livestock, mining and education.

Governor's Day, one of the traditions at the Fair has been changed from Thursday to Friday. The change breaks an 82-year-old custom and was necessary because Admission Day this year falls on Thursday.

An electrified sign was erected last week over the main entrance to the grounds. It is more than 40 feet long with block letters three feet high. The sign, carrying the name and date of the fair, was used for inaugurating the new slogan. "The fair has gone modern."

Secretary-Manager Robert Muckler reported to the board of directors that several counties are working on their exhibit booths in the horticulture hall.

GOOD SERVICE COSTS NO MORE

A modern establishment—a trained, intelligent and courteous personnel—distinctive motor equipment and other evidences of progress and prosperity are NOT an indication that funeral service charges will be high. A successful concern can be built only by serving honestly and well, at prices that are fair and reasonable.
